

Abstract

A locating device, in particular a hand-held locating device (10), for detecting objects enclosed in a medium, having a 5 housing (12) and at least one sensor system provided in a housing (12), as well as an opening (24) penetrating the device (10).

The opening (24) in the measuring device and penetrating the 10 device (10) is illuminable by at least one light source (34) provided in the measuring device.

(Figure 1)